

Do you own or manage a restaurant, cafe, club or hotel and want to improve your staff's efficiency?

'Appetite for Success' is a 18 month (3 semester) professional development program that will build tomorrow's leaders whilst also supporting and improving their workplace.

It offers your business increased management skills, cost effective staff training, industry exposure and networking opportunities, access to industry mentors and the chance to be recognised at the highest level.

The unique design of the program requires minimal off-the-job training for your staff and puts you in touch with some of the current leaders in food development and service.

Employer Information

You will access benefits such as ...

- Cost effective training and the development of your hospitality staff
- Heavily subsidised program costs
- Better performance of your business
- Promotion of your business, within the industry and in the general domain
- Improved operating margins

Participants have minimal off-the-job demands and the course is structured around peak times to ensure your business does not suffer from a loss of staff.

A significant amount of the training is conducted in the workplace so all of your staff can benefit from practical advice and support.

The hospitality skills focus is strongly supported by an additional management and business component to ensure participants increase both their technical abilities and business savvy.

Any hospitality-based business can nominate a participant.

The program is a 18 month (3 semester) model that requires participants to be off-site for 3 one day workshops per semester.

Employer Involvement

Employer involvement has been purposely kept to a minimum. We respect how busy you are and the many demands your business already places upon you.

If you do choose to support the program the following time commitments can be used as a guide to your likely involvement level –

- Participation in a 2 hour orientation workshop with your nominated participant.
- Attendance at the program launch Support for your participant with the workplace projects
- Participation in two, 1-hour review meetings each year
- Attendance at end of year networking function
- Flexibility with participant's work schedule to allow attendance at workshops

Employer Information

Whilst it is not mandatory for participants to gain employee approval to undertake the program, your support will certainly make it easier for them and the flow on of benefits to your business can be substantial.

Want to lend your hand?

If you are a seasoned (excuse the pun!) professional in the hospitality industry you can add your skills and experience to this new program. It only takes about 8 hours of your time a year. Participants benefit from real industry input and mentoring and the opportunity is there to assist with shaping our future industry leaders

To register your interest and availability please phone 5459 3000 and the Program Coordinator for Appetite for Success will contact you to make a time to visit and discuss this further.
